

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A communication method involves communicating via a network virtual personal information having a representation format similar to that of real personal information of a real world, and converting the virtual personal information into the real personal information based on registered information, in a managing apparatus provided in the network.

10

15

20

25

30

35

2025 RELEASE UNDER E.O. 14176